ABOUT- NEF

Asian Polymer Association was founded in 2007 at the premises of Indian Institute of Technology, New Delhi. It is a multinational society involving academicians, scientists and technologists from across the Asian countries. Major institutions and polymer organisations are associated with APA providing enormous opportunities for mutual interaction. The APA-North-East Forum (APA-NEF) has been established with the aim of enhanced interaction of the polymer community from North East India on an international level.

VISION

Vision of APA-NEF is to bring together Asian Science & Technology to the forefront of global arena so that a very close association within the scientific world from different countries may be accomplished. The visionary approach of the forum will be to bring industries, research laboratories and academic institutions on a joint scientific platform where everyone would be benefitted.

ACTIVITIES

- ▲ Creating a platform for interaction among people from different disciplines
- ▲ To bring polymer societies across Asia under one banner for scientific interaction
- ▲ Organizing seminars, conferences and lectures in the field of polymer science
- ▲ Promoting educational and research activities
- ▲ Creating a knowledgeable young researchers for the country
